

IBPS Interview Question paper II

What are your Strengths?

What are your strong points / what factors are you very good at? Give some strength to your character. These questions are a sure shot chance for you to showcase your skills in front of the interview board.

But before answering you need to sit down and think what factors you are really good at. Do not just right all the good points in your answer. Be truthful and first write down your positive qualities. Here is a list of qualities.

Pick the qualities that suit you. Always be truthful in this.

Technical knowledge

Organized life

Efficiency in work

Good listening skills

Confidence level

Initiative in work

Creative mind

Open minded

Logical thinking ability

Analytical thinking

Quick learner

Genuine nature

Warm

Inventive

Rebellious

Direct

Generous

Insightful

Friendly nature

IBPS Interview Question paper II

Computer skills

Analytical skills

Communication skills

Problem solving skills

Positive attitude

Now you know what you are good at. So just say it in a proper response.

Here is a model answer

I am good at problem solving skills and i enjoy solving such problems. I love challenges and i always try to complete ant given work in time. Whenever i do any work I concentrate highly on it and no pressure used to affect me. I experienced this in my college project when I had to complete the project I did in a very less time due to the negligence from he part of my project partners. But in the end I made them understood the significance of the project and we completed it in time. That was a happy incident for me.

Always try to include any experience you had in your answer. That will make then answer look well and it will definitely create a good impression with the interviewers.

So prepare your answer and only then move forward.

What are your Hobbies?

What is your hobby? What are the areas of your interest / what do you do in your free time? These questions are generally known to everyone. And everyone can answer this question with easiness.

But make sure that the intention of the interviewer while asking this question is different. He wants to know how well you know your hobby he wants to know whether you are saying the truth about your hobby. So make sure that you do not lie in front of your interviewer while answering the question. Remember that truth always wins.

Normal hobbies

Listening to music

Reading books

Playing cricket

Clay modeling...etc.

IBPS Interview Question paper II

You must think what your hobby is and write it down in your note book now. You also must be prepared for the list of follow up questions you can expect from the interviewer.

For example: if you say about your hobby as reading books

He may ask you these questions

Who is your favorite author?

Why do you like him as a author?

What is special about his books?

What type of books do you read?

Which is the latest book you read?

And so on.

So whatever hobby you choose make sure that you know adequate facts about that hobby and try to think of questions yourself related to the hobby. So write down the hobby in our note book. Now start thinking of the possible questions your interviewer will ask in your interview. Write down at least 10 related questions and prepare individual answers for those questions.

You know your hobby. So it is you who can ask more questions than your interviewer. So change this question to your advantage.